

Working together to understand copyright

Most books, magazines and other printed works in this library and online are protected by Copyright. It is your personal responsibility to comply with The Copyright Act 1994.

Under the 'fair dealing' provisions (section 43)

- YOU MAY ONLY MAKE A SINGLE COPY when the copying is done solely for your research or private study:
- only one copy is made of the same work or part of a work on any one occasion;

AND

- the amount copied must be FAIR

Copying is FAIR if your copying is a small or does not affect the value of the work for sale.

If you cannot buy a copyright work within a reasonable time at an ordinary retail price, then it is FAIR to copy more than a small amount of this work for your own research or private study. This copy is not to be shared or sold.

If you have any questions please ask us.

For further information, the Copyright Act 1994 is available online from this library.